Seen To Perfection Last Night

Society turned out in full force last night at the Moana, when the first of the fleet balls was given. This was an invitation affair, and it is a question whether a finer ball has ever been given in Honolulu or more elaborate gowns seen in this officers of the "Big Eight," and those from the Denver and Galveson, were kept busy fulfilling their bligations.

light, the floor perfect, and through the usual courtesy and foresight of the management, plenty of seating accommodations had been supplied. The trees and shrubs in the grounds were illuminated by hundreds of vari-colored electric lights. The pier also was desorated and ablaze with lights, and the many cosy cor-ners were all screened from the vulgar goze by boughs and branches of Dancing. To the accompaniment of Kaal's orchestra, the dancers glided gracefully over the hardwood floor and kept perfect time to the rythmic st min- of the music. So appreciative were the dancers that encore site care a had to be responded to. I was a happy, eager crowd that took possession of the Moann: Subdone mughter, the ga'lant attentions of Unde Sam's representatives, the beauthul cie t. le fight effects, and the cognitite gowns and sparkling jewels of the fair sex, enhanced by he gulet, unostentations uniforms f the haval outers, made as pretty picture as one would wish to see.

There were ladies attited in empire gowns, spangled costumes, dainty confections of pink chiffon, gowns made of embroidered Filipino cioth and crepe de chine. Amongst the onlookers were many distinuished visite s who took much interest in all that went on around them. Amongst these were Dr. and Robert Burdette of Pasadena, Petutiful Cowns, it would be impossible to describe all the gowns worn last night. All were exquisite and all greatly admired. Miss Mary Headden of Fort Collins. Colo., was gowned in a pink Japanese silk and panne velvet dress with a long train; Mrs. Boggs was with diamond ornaments; Miss Marie Douglas was gowned in a yel-low liberty satin with gold garni; tures; Miss Nina Craig had on a yellow crepe de chine; Miss Sloane wore a blue liberty satin dress and wore silver slippers: Mrs. Church looked stunning in a lavender liberty satin gown with a gold band in her hair; Exquisite Gowns Were Mrs. Plotner of San Francisco was attired in a white slik gown with a profusion of old lace, and wore a neckince of pearls and turquoises.

Tonight's Ball.
This evening the Merchants' Association of Hono'ulu will tender a ball in honor of the chief petty officers of the Pacific fleet, in the ball-room of the Young. Both pavilions on the roof-garden will be used to accommodate the dancers, so that adequate dancing space has been asmore elaborate gowns seen in this sured. The names of the floor comportion of the globe. In response to mittee in charge of tonight's enteran appeal for a large gathering of tainment are as follows: E. A. the fair sex, society ladies of Ho-nolulu responded with alacrity. The Childs, A. B. Clark Jr., M. M. Johnston, J. P. Lynch, A. McIntosh, F. B. Angus, W. Thompson, R. McCorriston, R. Johnstone, Walter Dillingham.

Mrs. A. G. Hawes Jr., of the ladies' committee appointed to arrange the details for the bluejackets' ball on Saturday at the Moana and Seaside hotels, asks that the patronesses of this ball would kindly meet her on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the parlor of the Young Hotel, to discuss plans and to insure all of social Honolulu being in attendance.

Floor Committee. floor committee who have been appointed for the two entertainments Saturday night: Moana-F. Armstrong, A. McIntosh, Walter Dillingham, W. Thompson, M. M. Johnson, C. Waterman; Seaside—G. Angus, E. A. Chentham, R. Johnstone, A. B. Clark Jr., Loyd Childs, M. Brasch, S. Walker. Mr. Edward Towse is chairman of all the floor committees.

CHINESE CROOKS CORRAL CASH

Several Chinese crooks have been brought before Chief McDuffle for investigation with regards to a robbery that occurred at a house on Beretania street two nights ago.

The dwelling, which belongs to a Chinese, was entered and a sum of money amounting to $68 was stolen. Two gold watches were also taken and a few other small articles. That the men who were, up before him know something of the matter is McDuffle's opinion and aithough the Chinese were allowed to depart after being closely questioned, there is little doubt that before long the burglars will be captured.

In the list of "holders of scholar-ships in Harvard College for the year with a long train; Mrs. Boggs was decollete in a white crepe de chine prancis Robin on of Makawell Kausi, heavily embroidered; Miss Ole was daintily attired in a pink chiffon, ship.
